

As summer drew to a close, families across the DMV were faced with the reality of back-to-school costs. Rent, groceries, and gas prices were climbing, and for many parents, new backpacks, notebooks, and school supplies were simply out of reach. At Bethel Stand for Life, we believe no child should start the school year feeling left out or unprepared. That's why our team and volunteers came together for our Back-to-School & Food Bank Blessing. Through donations and community support, we filled bags with fresh groceries, backpacks, notebooks, pens, and other essential supplies for children in need.

On distribution day, families lined up with smiles and tears of relief. Parents shared how much of a burden this lifted from their shoulders, and children proudly held their new supplies, ready to face the school year with confidence.

What made the day even more special was the fellowship neighbors talking, volunteers praying with families, and the joy of knowing the love of Christ was being shown in action.

At Bethel Stand for Life, we don't just hand out items; we share hope, dignity, and the reminder that God always provides.
